All About Braindate

What is Braindate?

Braindate is a unique platform designed to facilitate meaningful connections and knowledge sharing amongst attendees. Braindate offers personalized small and large group discussions encouraging collaboration and networking over topic-driven conversations.

Before and during LSSC, users post topics related to anything that they're hoping to share and discuss at a given event to the Braindate platform's "topic market." Participants with similar interests and challenges will then book them to discuss their Braindate topics.

The platform gives users the rare opportunity to discuss whatever is most important to them or discuss a subject they feel strongly about.

Make your small business a force for good

Create Topic

ONE-ON-ONE ASK ME ANYTHING

How I hit 130% of my quota, without cold calling! Let's discuss outbound strategies.

Mike Dawson
Executive Account Manager

SCHEDULE A BRAINDATE

GROUP HELP ME SOLVE

How can we allow our customers to trust our next product update

Sebastien Roy Marketing manager

1 spot left

JOIN A GROUP

Mon, Jan 27, 10:00 AM (America/Toronto)

How can you use Braindate to maximize your event experience?

In traditional networking settings, attendees rely on serendipity and often, a healthy understanding of how to stalk each other on LinkedIn leading up to a cocktail hour in order to prepare themselves for success. But we believe that communities' desire for "networking" is in fact rooted in a human need for connection and knowledge-exchange opportunities.

Braindate is not just another event networking app.
It's a means to personalize your experience at an event, to form a deeper connection with your community, and to gain knowledge above and beyond event programming. All that it requires is that you, as the participant, believe in the value of your own experiences.

Please let us know if you have any additional questions. If you would like to see Braindate in action, click here!